THREE EXCELLENT ADDRESSES AT THE S.S. CONVENTION

Speakers Debate Upon Questions of Much Importance in Sunday School Work.

The twelfth annual convention of the Alberta Sunday School association was continued this morning in the First Baptist church. The chairman, Rev. A. R. Amridge, of Edmonton, introduced to a large and representative audience three prominent men in Sunday school work. These gave addresses on very important questions in connection with Sunday school work.

The first speaker to address the convention was J. L. Alexander, who gave an address on the "Spiritual Life of the Teen." Mr. Alexander spoke upon the importance of directing the mind of the boy or girl, while still in an immature state, and to the importance of bringing religion into our daily life and business.

Rev. A. G. Barnes, of the Edmonton school board, spoke upon "The Education of Sunday Schools to Moral Questions." He said that there were four great agencies at work in connection with the moral training of our young people. The first among these agencies was the home life of the child—that it is the part of the parents to see to it that the child is brought up in the right way. The second agency was the school. The third agency was that of the press. Mr. Barnes considered that more use could be made of the press in continuing keeping before the youth of our country the fact that religion ought to be made part of our daily life.

Rev. J. C. Robertson, who is the general secretary of the Sunday Schools of the Presbyterian church, directed his remarks about the general work of the church in connection with Sunday schools. He concluded his remarks with the phrase: "Our young people today are the hope and the future of the nation."

HUDSON MAXIM TELLS WHAT HE READS IN SCIENCE

Some Interesting Facts Briefly Stated for Readers of the Capital.

Being a very busy man, I confine my reading about entirely to the purpose of getting the latest news of the world and current scientific progress, and am therefore obliged to pass over many of the most interesting and valuable books, which I should otherwise like to read.

I like the five daily papers—the New York World, New York Times, New York Sun, New York Tribune, and New York Herald. I like the five leading magazines—National Geographic, Scientific American, Popular Science Monthly and the National Geographic Magazine.

The most important scientific book, and the one which most interests me and brings me the greatest instruction is the Annual Report of the Smithsonian Institution. This is an important scientific advancement for the year. It is for the scientific book what the Library Digest is to its field.

The book by Harry Chase Brearley, recently published, entitled "Mental Secrets Told," I have found to be both very interesting and instructive. It is charmingly written and betrays secrets of the mind.

Often some very useful scientific book is brought to my attention which I should have read last year or year before, so I am constantly reading occasional scientific books several years old.

I have found Garrett P. Serviss' "Round the Earth with the Stars" a most attractive and suggestive piece of writing. It is very poetic and imaginative. Professor Serviss is a well-known astronomer and astronomer and all-around scientist, and also I find him to be a good deal of a poet.

His work on "Religion" is one of the best scientific books I have seen the past year.

Another scientific work which has much interested me in the past year is "The New Astronomy" by Professor T. J. J. See of the University of Chicago.

Astronomy is the science which, above all others, appeals to the imagination, therefore it is the one which has the most endless ways to him an obsession. I know of no greater pleasure than that of reaching out with the imagination to star and farther star, and out and on to the farthest reach of thought, and then to trace one's self out of thought, as he has put it, by trying to get a conception of infinite space.

In a motor boat, traveling 30 miles an hour, we feel that we are going fast, and at an hour's end we feel that we have traveled far. In an automobile going 60 miles an hour, which is a velocity of 8 feet a second, we know that we are traveling the speed of light. But when we witness the practice fire of a 12-inch navy cannon, which bursts a half-ton projectile at a velocity of 3,000 feet per second, giving it a striking energy equal to that of a half-ton weight falling from a height of more than 20 miles, we have occasion to pause and reflect upon the fact that the rate of combustion of smokeless cannon powder is very slow indeed compared with the combustion of dynamite, smokeless powder burns in the sun only at the rate of four inches a

SAINT APPOINTED BY THE POTIFFER FOR JOURNALISTS

Newspapermen Will Now Be Able To Call Upon Their Own Saint.

In all the catalogue of a hundred patron saints, journalists had none upon whom to call until the decree of Pope Pius X. appointing St. Francis de Sales to be patron of the profession. It was at the request of a number of continental journalists that the decree was issued, and that the saint of "the word" was chosen to be the one by whose help the gathering of the news was to be expedited. The naming of a patron for this profession was a timely righting of a wrong.

Since the fashion of putting saints before the altar of the profession, the protection of a saint began to interest Christian times, every man in however humble a walk might invoke the aid of a special guardian—unless he were a journalist.

The champion on "Yahira" hit in the snuff of the hawk, was his fierce cold and the moon hard to adjust, called upon St. Elmo to help him. Baiting the poor creature with the words of the prophet on the tail of the cart. The horse-dealer seeking "to pass off a thundered crowd as a flying dromedary" pilot his already under the protection of St. Louis, already charged with the affairs of horse-dealers, St. Anthony of Padua kept a watchful eye upon Chinamen. Such a saint might have left off thanking him who first invited a saint to return thanks for his safe return to St. John, blessed of travelers. For the hunter, St. Anthony of Padua, for the candlestick-maker, St. Ignace, for the tailor, St. Elizabeth, for the patron saint of the printer, St. John the Evangelist. At best an often unresponsive patron saint or one of the 100,000 saints came at his call.

Choice is timely. But the writer of news has entered now into the ranks of the saints. A duly appointed defender, with those of other professions, was the Sunday paper of St. Francis de Sales is as timely as it is apt, for only his holy spirit could guide him in the pump and amid great confusion of the news. He was transferred with a new church in Anney, in Savoy, near his native place of Sales. There he was born in 1567. It is related in the numerous centuries upon his life that he was, even at a child, of a mild disposition, and that his first words were "God of his more excellent love." He was a brother, said of the three sons of his father. "We three share with him a call to dress in the same manner, the same dress—Jean Francis, the vicar, Louis, a priest, and the youngest, who cared for nothing but his studies, would do well enough as his saint."

Yet, when he came to the university of Padua, Francis made something of a name as a fighter in putting in his religious colleagues to flight at the point of a sword, and the same elder brother, as the untiring Bishop of "Chalons," once felt the sting of a tongue which was not his.

"You have done one woman a great wrong," Francis said, "at dinner. After several hurtful guesses by the brother Francis said: 'I mean the woman who would have been your wife if you had ever married.'"

Francis entered the clergy against the wishes of his parents, and gained great confidence as Bishop-elect, and later Bishop of Geneva. He was joint founder of the Society of Jesus, and was a devoted visitor. Throughout his years in the Society, he was known for his piety, and the Cardinal of Ferrara once remarked: "If you would have the heretics converted, send them to Francis."

As for the characteristics which made him an apt choice as the patron saint of journalists, the representations of him in art portray him as a man of letters first of all. Portraits of him are very popular in France and in parts of Italy, and the most famous of these is in the Church of Trinità, at Foggia, done by Carlo Maratti. Francis is shown seated at his writing table, pen in hand; in the background are shelves of books, and above are infant angels, each leaning on a book.

Francis' first and greatest book, which still enjoys a considerable popularity, was "The Imitation of Christ." This is a treatise, says one critic, "no doubt because of the lightness of French with which it is written, and the unerring logical instinct (if one may put it so) in writing of the work of a saint, which he compares attention to serious questions by the skillful use of metaphor and illustration." In its first form it was a record of conversation with Francis, and was written by a man who was instructed in religious matters, and was put into book form by Peter Fourier from a handful of "miscellaneous notes."

second, while dynamite is consumed at the rate of four miles a second. Still the speed of that explosive wave is not more than a tenth as great as that of many meteors.

Imagine it—taking a photograph of an object so far away that the light, traveling at 180,000 miles a second, is a 200,000 years when it acts upon the photographic plate.

There are many, many stars which can be photographed that are not more than a light-year from us. We are able to photograph stars by light which left them a million years ago, and were never to be placed where such a star is, but advanced would be as a lifetime forward a farther shore of space, for there is no shore.

MAGISTRATE FINDS THAT ALCOHOL IS REALLY LIQUOR

Druggist Puts Up Plea That Sale Did Not Violate Law.

DICTIONARY CONSULTED
AND DECISION RECORDED

Held to Be Intoxicating Liquor
Under the Act As It May Be Drunk of Diluted.

London, Ontario, Oct. 31.—After consulting the "liquor license act" to find the meaning of "liquor" & to see if alcohol could be classed as liquor, police magistrate Judd yesterday gave judgment in the case against T. A. Lachey, a druggist, who was charged by license inspector Gidday with selling liquor without a license. The magistrate found that by selling 25 cents worth of alcohol to James Savin on Oct. 5, the defendant committed a breach of the act, and made himself liable to a penalty which the magistrate then named as $100 and costs. There were no facts in dispute in the case. The defendant, however, claimed that in selling ethyl alcohol he was not selling a "drinkable liquid which would intoxicate," which is the meaning of "liquor" as given in the liquor license act. The magistrate thought otherwise. The judgment read in part: "When one finds that beer, wine, whiskey and other drinks of a similar nature which are admitted to be intoxicating, contain a percentage of alcohol, varying from 60 to 70 per cent, it would be unreasonable and senseless, even in the common meaning of the word as given in the dictionary, and encyclopaedia, to find liquid containing 55 per cent, proof spirits is not an intoxicating liquor." The defendant also contended that alcohol, as sold by him, was not drinkable, I cannot agree with him. Pure whiskey containing 50 to 60 per cent, alcohol is not drinkable without being diluted, and will cause a man to choke and gag, as pure alcohol would cause him to choke and gag, but it is nevertheless an intoxicating liquor and each of them is then drinkable." The judgment went on to point out that no evidence had been given to prove that the liquid had been sold for use in arts and manufactures as the act allows.

FRANK PATRICK ISSUES DICTIONARY ON COAST HOCKEY

Says Skene, Ronan and Newby Lalonde Will Play
for Vancouver or Not at All.

Vancouver, Oct. 31.—Skene, Ronan and Newby Lalonde will play hockey on the Pacific coast this winter. Otherwise they will not play at all. That is the dictum of Frank Patrick, and Frank generally knows what he is talking about. "We have made legitimate trades for Ronan and Lalonde under agreement with the eastern club owners," said Mr. Patrick today, "and they must come out on the way. Kenney, who went to Ottawa in exchange for Ronan, and unless we shall make some further trade in which he is included (which is not in prospect at this minute) Skene will not be out with the Vancouver club." The agreement between the east and the west has worked splendidly to date. All the club owners feel better under the protection it affords, and the men with money invested in hockey can say, with some assurance, just what men they will and will not have this winter. Of course it's hard on the players to lose their inflated salaries, but every man engaged in the game, particularly on the Pacific coast, will receive exactly what his services are worth and there appears to be much contentment generally among the stick handlers who have found them in this part of the world when the agreement was entered into.

Mexico City, Oct. 31.—The first accurate account of the destruction to railroad property by revolutionaries at Monterey, which reached the office of the Mexican National Railway, yesterday shows that 467 freight cars, three passenger coaches and 17 locomotives were consumed, and a special 17 freight cars were partially consumed.

The shops, machinery and round-house of the Mexican National Railway were destroyed. Many of the cars destroyed were loaded with merchandise. No estimate of the money loss, the railroadmen say, is possible.

Work is said to have been resumed in the plants of several big Monterey concerns, which were closed for several days following the rebel attack.

WESTERN WHEAT POURING DOWN ST. LAWRENCE RIVER

Than by Route That Ever Before.

LITTLE COMPLAINT OF CONGESTION BUT MAY BE
With Two Days Yet to Be Recorded, 29,944,782 Bus.
Passed Down Lachine Canal
This Year.

Montreal, Oct. 31.—More western wheat has come down the St. Lawrence to Montreal this month than ever before in the history of the port. Yet there is less congestion than for many past Octobers. Shipping and grain men were accordingly not very anxious this morning as to the prospect of dispatching the grain without congestion.

There is little complaint of congestion at present. However, grain men are afraid that provision for taking care of the November grain is not to be had. They realize, they say, that the commissioners are not directly responsible for the lack of ocean shipping, but they wish to insure themselves against having their grain held up next year.

A total of 6,488,783 bushels of wheat is the record for all months, as labelled by October 31st, for the year shipments. The total for all grain up to this morning is 5,910,474 bushels.

This includes, besides wheat, 802,572 bushels of oatmeal, 1,000,000 bushels of barley, and 140,000 bushels of corn. October 1912 saw 5,910,474 bushels for all grain of only 5,732,232 bushels. Comparative wheat receipts show that October 1912 was the biggest month this year. May, with 5,095,270 bushels, is second. Not counting the last two days of this month, the amount of wheat which has come down the Lachine canal to Montreal this year is 29,944,782 bushels.

The battleship Michigan carrying the dispatch should reach Yucatan tomorrow. Admiral Fletcher did not say upon which vessel the refugees would sail and no mention was made of their ultimate destination.

HALLOWE'EN

The witch cat wears its mystic ring.
The black cat spreads its gruesome
Hallowe'een witch cat and sing
On Hallowe'een!

Come, hear us break enchantment's
spell.
Down by the fairies' wishing well,
Where elves our good-luck fortunes tell
On Hallowe'een!

There is perhaps no other night in the year which the popular imagination has stamped with a more peculiar character than the evening of the 31st
of October, known as All Hallow's Eve, or Hallowe'een. It is clearly a relic of ancient times, for there is nothing in the church observance of the following day of "All Saints" to have originated such extraordinary notions as are connected with this celebrated festival, or such remarkable practices as those by which it is distinguished.

The leading idea of Hallowe'een is that it is the time of all others, when supernatural influences prevail. It is the night set apart for a universal walking abroad of spirits, both of the visible and invisible world.

It is thought to be a night when demons, witches and other mischief-making beings are all abroad on their fantastic midnight errands. Even the fairies are said to hold high carnival on this mystic evening.

First, there is the oracle of the nuts,
a number of nuts are named for lovers
and put upon a bed of coals. If a nut jumps, the lover will prove unfaithful.
If a nut "blazes" and burns, he surely loves the girl who named the nut. If both nuts named for a maid and her lover burn together, they will be married. Nuts seem to have been used very early for purposes of divination.

The human boys used to be their spooks, and in marriage ceremonies
among the Romans the bridegroom threw nuts about the room for the boys to scramble for.

An old Scotch method of seeing future things is to pull a cabbage, blindfolded. The amount of earth clinging to its root showed the amount of her dowry, the shape and size indicated the appearance and height of the future husband, while the flavor of the heart and stem signified his disposition. In the old Scottish Hallowe'een game each took home the stalk and laid it behind the outer door, and the first person to enter next morning was to be the future husband.

Eating an Apple Before a Mirror
An appropriate Hallowe'een method of inducing visions directs a young lady to eat an apple while standing before a mirror combing her hair. The future husband will look into the glass over her shoulder. To be effectual, this must be done at midnight.

Bobbing For Apples
Bobbing for apples is a stunt so old
that no one seems able to tell its origin.
Nevertheless, no Hallowe'een party is complete without it. Fill a small tub with water, put in eight or ten apples,
first having inserted in one of them a ring. In another a thimble, in a third a coin, and in one a button. Thus will the tale of four persons be decided on a coin spot.

SUNDAY SPECIAL FOR BOYS
AT FIRST PRESBYTERIAN

Rev. Dr. McQueen Will Preach Special Sermon on Sunday Morning.

Next Sunday, November 2nd, will be a special day for the boys of Edmonton. Dr. McQueen will preach to the boys on Sunday morning at the First Presbyterian church at 11 o'clock. All boys should meet at the Y.M.C.A. at 10:30 from which place they will parade to the church. It is expected that Mr. Taylor Statten, Dominion Boys' Secretary of the Y.M.C.A., will assist in the service. Every boy should be at the Y.M.C.A. in time for the parade. All parents are invited to attend the service at the First Presbyterian church. Scout troops come in uniform.

LADIES' NIGHT AT EDMONTON AD CLUB

Members and Their Lady Relatives and Friends Have Pleasant Time.

Some 100 members of the Edmonton
Ad club, with wives and sweethearts, attended an interesting meeting at the Empire auditorium last night, when the monthly six o'clock dinner was followed by an interesting lecture on "The Story of the Y.M.C.A." given by J. F. O. McQueen of the McQueen giving company.

A pleasing program of music was also provided, the volunteer sisters providing several orchestra numbers that were a wonderful surprise to many present who were unaware that such talent could be found in Edmonton. Miss Cecilia Corbett, pianist, Mrs. J. H. Cummings, soprano, and Mrs. J. H. Cummings, brockington, comedienne, provided the remainder of the entertainment.

Mr. McQueen's lecture, which was held by the numerous sisters providing the orchestra numbers, was illustrated by lantern slides and gave them an insight into the thorough knowledge of the art of engraving.

MOTHER GOOSE SOCIAL.
The members of the choir and Girls'
Friendly Society of Holy Trinity church, will hold "Mother Goose"
social in the basement of the church,
Third street east, on Tuesday, November 3, at 8 p.m. Admission 10 cents.
Prizes for best "Mother Goose" costume and other contests.

A WAVE OF MIRTH.
The Williams' Jubilee Singers arrived today, and tonight will delight the throngs of expectant lovers of real music. No music compares with the human voice and the southern melodies are at present the most popular. Do not miss this opportunity. A jolly good time is assured at McDougall church.

"QUO VADIS" AT EMPIRE THEATRE

REMARKABLE PLAY

Drew Very Large Audience of Best Class of Edmon-ton's Citizens.

One of the most remarkable things about the show at the Empire last night, when the famous play "Quo Vadis" was reproduced by cinema-graph, was the personal of the audience. Edmonton people who have seen at the theatres were present and the high-class nature of the play drew the elite of Edmonton. Members of the local clergy, educators and lovers of high-class literature were in the house, and it is safe to say none
went away disappointed.

The pictures were exquisite. The acting was brilliant and the settings
were simply wonderful. It was difficult to realize that the whole thing was not real, or at least that the pictures were not pictures of the real occurrence in the time of Nero. When one did compel himself to realize that the whole thing is artificial, it became the more wonderful for the scenery and settings are astonishing and the practical mind begins to conjecture on the enormous expense of producing such pictures, showing gorgeous streets and castles and rich interiors
with hundreds of thousands of people playing the parts.

If one who has never seen the play
reads the book thinks for a moment
that the performance would be dry,
he has a wonderful surprise in store
for him should he decide to visit the Empire at either the afternoon or evening performances today or tomorrow. There perhaps was never a play produced that portrayed so many different phases of humanity. Every emotion of the human mind is given free reign in some parts of the play and one need know nothing whatever of the story of Rome and Nero to appreciate the scenes that are set before him.

The most beautiful love story, and the most dramatic hate and jealousy;
the sweetest scenes of religious worship that brings the tears, and the most corrupt scenes of vice and immorality, of intrigue and cruelty;
scenes of frivolity and happiness and
of sorrow and woe; peaceful scenes
of domestic life, and scenes of war;
all combine to make one of the most striking plays which ever wracked the human emotion.

nouncement to this effect was made

who was exceedingly pleased with the

TIME IS PAST FOR SALACIOUS PLAYS

Taylor Granville Thinks Crime Stories With Plenty of Heart Will Last.

Although Taylor Granville, who will appear with Laura Pierpont on the Orpheum vaudeville bill the first half of next week at the Empire theatre in "The System" has fastened a so-called crime sketch of rare merit, Mr. Granville takes a little time now and then to philosophize on the current opinions of American audiences on popular plays.

"The public will not endure salacious plays for any length of time. The popularity of 'The Lure,' 'Deborah,'
and other dramas of that sort is ephemeral," says Mr. Granville. "The New York police did exactly right in closing 'The Lure.' I saw it myself, and even though a certain class of men—and women, too, claimed that the play taught a great lesson, as a matter of fact the drama did more harm than good. There is going to be a big reaction. Theatrical tastes will be for the better within ten years. When that ten years is over plays like 'The Lure' will be distinct novelties, which the public will wisely shun."

"On the other hand I believe theatrical tastes will welcome for many years to come crime plays that tell a connected story with plenty of heart interest, and above all paints its characters true to life. That is the thing
—paint them true to life, but leave out the obviously salacious things. People want to be amused, not preached to."

David E. Johnson, 31-of Lawrenceburg, Ind. Joliet never having had a haircut or shave in his life.

cigars and attends to business daily.

equal his record for the last season.

bined weight of which is 279

TERRIBLE CRUELTY TO CHILDREN IN EASTERN ASYLUM

Priest May Be Prosecuted in Matter—Children Permanently Disfigured.

Montreal, Oct. 31.—A story of inhuman cruelty to children in an orphan asylum in the eastern part of Quebec province involving a Montreal woman and a priest who is in charge of the institution, has been brought to the notice of the Society for the Protection of Women and Children, with the result that a warrant has just been sworn out for the arrest of the woman, while steps will, it is said, be taken to close the asylum, the priest being also prosecuted.

An investigation was recently made by Mr. O. H. Shroder, secretary of the society, in company with one of the directors, and sufficient evidence was collected to warrant legal action. The woman in question managed to effect her escape from Montreal before the warrant could be served and it has not yet been decided if officers shall be sent to arrest and bring her back to the city or prosecute in the district where the offences are said to have been committed.

The treatment of the children confined in this asylum is said to be without parallel in the records of the province. The woman who was proprietress of the home was, it is claimed, well aware of what went on, and in fact was responsible for much of it, but the priest who was in charge of the children, is, according to the report of Mr. Shroder, the worst offender. He taught these orphans, he is said to have punished them by having more severe than that inflicted by the law on the worst criminal. In one case a young child was stripped and given 52 lashes. So appalling were some of the punishments inflicted, in fact, that actual deformity has resulted, it is claimed.

The history of the institution is unusual in its way, being one of the few such homes owned by a private individual and managed by a priest. The woman, who has lived in Montreal for some time, came here nine years ago, it is said, and collected money for the purpose of founding an orphan asylum in lower Quebec. Children from any part of the province were to be admitted and the institution was opened. Some time ago a man who had been employed

IS YOUR CHILD'S TONGUE COATED?

If cross, feverish, constipated, give "California Syrup of Figs."

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul constipated waste and undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless "fruit laxative"; they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid. Ask your druggist for a 10-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeiters sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is marked "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

In the asylum visited the offices of the Society for the Protection of Women and Children, telling of the cruelties practiced. It was accordingly decided to make an investigation and Mr. Shroder went to the asylum and collected evidence which has been submitted to the directors of the society. The children, he says, were subjected to the most inhuman cruelties. Fifteen of the inmates were forced to sleep on the floor—some on covering and were fed and housed like lower animals. The priest, who managed the asylum, kept his charges for the most trivial offences, having them almost into unconsciousness. In one case 52 lashes were inflicted and some of the children are permanently disfigured as a result of the treatment.

Application was made to the board of directors for permission to take up the case and it was decided that action should be immediately taken. A warrant was sworn for the arrest of the woman, who is proprietor of the asylum, and the priest will also be apprehended. The woman, who was in Montreal, recently, managed to leave the city before the warrant could be served, but is believed to be now in her institution. It is not yet certain whether the prosecution will take place in Montreal or in the town in which the asylum is situated, but officers of the society state that they have sufficient evidence to put the woman and the priest in jail and to close the asylum permanently.

USES FOR WHICH COLD IS UTILIZED

Low Temperature Artificially Created Has Done the World Good.

Most of us know a lot about hot air, but the valuable uses to which air, reduced to such deadly temperature as 400 and more degrees below zero may be put is by no means generally understood. Most people think of refrigeration chiefly as a means of making artificial ice and preserving food. The international congress of refrigeration which met in Chicago has taught us to what an extent refrigeration enters into science, industry and the useful arts. It is not only a vital force in the food supply of the nation, as was pointed out by Prof. Seviner, in charge of the government exhibit. It is claimed for it that of all the modern utilities it is the greatest. It is used in the manufacture of many of the necessities of life. It is the one restricting factor which comes to play such an important part in the industrial world alone that over a billion dollars worth of capital is invested in industries depending upon abnormal as well as normal artificially created cold.

Delegates from all over the world have been making these facts clear during the last few days. As to the use of refrigeration in chemistry, for instance, Dr. Hammerling of Götting has told of the refrigeration of air at a temperature of 400 degrees below zero, or within two degrees of absolute zero, in which almost inconceivable temperature the composition of atoms may, he asserts, be determined. The pertinency of the time-worn jest about steam handwheels held fast to pass away; thanks to refrigeration, for it has been discovered that stretched linen frozen in a cold temperature does not crack or fray and lasts longer. Refrigeration has proved invaluable in the paper-making industry. It helps to preserve apple seeds, seed potatoes and grain. It is useful in curing or preserving tropical diseases, and in some cases the ravages of hay fever have been held to its beneficent frigidity.

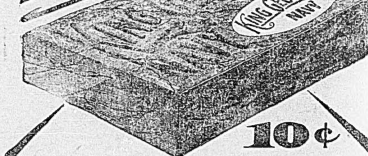

Its use in making artificial ice is more generally known, but the figures which tell the tale of the extent of this industry, there are 3,500 ice-manufacturing plants in the United States alone, with a capacity of between 18 and 20,000,000 tons of ice a year. —Columbia.

The commercial and industrial conditions in Switzerland during the first six months of 1912, as evidenced by the export and other statistics, indicate a normal and prosperous economic situation in the confederation.

SUPT. WOODROOFE WILL INQUIRE IN OTHER CITIES

Discusses Inability of System to Pay and Suggests Higher Rates.

At a meeting of the city commissioners this morning a letter was read from Superintendent Woodroffe, referring to the relationship existing between car service and population.

Mr. Woodroffe considers that, for the city to be warranted in the construction of new car lines into unreserved districts, there should be a density of population amounting to 2,500 per square mile. He has calculated that a car line in the city of Edmonton which requires the citizen to walk more than a quarter of a mile to get a car, cannot and does not pay.

Instructions are to be given to the superintendent to collect data from a considerable number of the large American cities, with a view to ascertaining what must be the density of population in an unreserved district before the street railways are obliged to extend their service to said district. The enquiry is to be made mostly in cities where the lines are run by private franchise.

In his letter to the commissioners, Mr. Woodroffe also referred to the great amount of new construction which has been going on in the city during the past year as the main reason for the badly kept schedules, and also, as an essential element in considering the poor paying powers of the system of late.

He gave his opinion as to the advisability of continuing the system of giving reduced fares to workmen during rush hours. The amount of passengers carried during those hours is increased from 40 to 50 per cent, and if regular fares could be charged the increased revenues thus arising would go far to lessen the loss which the rapid system has sustained of late.

RHODES SCHOLARS PROMINENT.
Oxford, Eng., Oct. 31.—The new Rhodes scholars were prominent yesterday in athletic meeting of Oxford freshmen. Norman S. Taylor, formerly of Brown University, Providence, won the mile event easily in 4:47.5, the best time in the 440 yard dash by the South African, Rudd, in 50:1 seconds. V. D. Havens, formerly of Butcher's College, New Brunswick, N. J., won the 100 yard dash in 19:1 seconds, and the shot-put with 30 feet 8 inches.

HEADACHES AND HEART TROUBLE

Nervous Prostration of Three Years Standing Cured a Year Ago by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Anyone who knows the discouragement and despair which accompanies the helplessness of nervous prostration will appreciate the gratitude felt by the writer of this letter.

Mrs. H. C. Jones, Scotch Lake, C. B., writes: "I suffered from nervous prostration for nearly three years. I had frequent headaches, had no appetite and was troubled with my heart. After consulting two doctors, without obtaining satisfactory results, I began the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and was completely cured by this treatment. It is nearly a year since I was cured, and I want others to know of this splendid medicine. I now attend to my household with pleasure and comfort, and I am glad to have the opportunity of recommending Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."

At least some benefit is bound to be derived from each dose of so great a food cure, as day by day it forms new blood, and builds up the system, 50 cents a box, 4 for $2.00, all dealers or Edmonson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

CORRESPONDENCE

COMMISSIONER CHALMERS AND DEPRESSION.

The Editor, Edmonton Capital:
Sir.—The connection between Commissioner Chalmers and depression is, perhaps, not clear to the majority of people outside municipal circles, and in view of the frequent terms "depression and obsolescence" of late, it may be useful and informative to give the past history of this question in so far as it concerns the city.

Up to the end of the fiscal year of 1909 depreciation had been charged to the revenue accounts of the utilities in addition to the provision for sinking fund. The auditor at the time (myself) brought up the subject for discussion by the city council with the view to a more definite and permanent policy. It was recommended by the auditor that the council provide depreciation to the extent of the difference between redemption of loans and full depreciation. It was at the time by no means certain that such a policy had been adopted, it would have been necessary to provide any depreciation, as it would have depended upon whether the periods of loans were in excess of the lifetime of the works. The council decided not to provide any depreciation in addition to redemption sinking fund. The chairman is silent on the question of depreciation, but the provision for redemption is compulsory.

I do not quarrel with the council's decision, as the subject is a very debatable one, and as even accountants are not agreed thereon, it is not surprising to find others adopting what may be termed the more convenient method.

In my annual report for the fiscal year ending 31st October, 1909, on page 9 of the printed copy, will be found the following: "While on this subject I would point out that in some cases it would appear that the periods of certain loans are unduly lengthy—that is to say, that in such cases the assets will probably have ceased to be economic factors some considerable time before the expiration of the loan period. This difficulty would seem to be almost inseparable from the system of borrowing money at terms based on the expected life period of the works, and it is my intention at a later date to bring forward a suggestion by which this anomaly may be overcome."

During the following year I discussed with the then commissioners the advisability of adopting a scheme of taking depreciation upon the estimated useful life of the work, and charging same to revenue after deducting provision for redemption. Nothing was done at the time.

The matter again came up for discussion in October, 1912, and Commissioner Chalmers was mainly instrumental in getting the commission board to adopt the policy mentioned in the last paragraph. It was decided that some should apply from November 1, 1912, the beginning of the new fiscal year, and instructions were issued to the departments in accordance therewith.

It may also be mentioned that in the estimates of 1912 the amount of $100,000 was included to cover the depreciation on municipal assets at that period. While the policy of charging the depreciation with the loss of a trading department (utility) may be open to question, it should be borne in mind that two of the departments which would otherwise have had to contribute to waterworks and street railways were working at a loss, and such contribution would have had the effect of increasing unprovided deficits.

FIRE IN TORONTO.
Toronto, Ont., Oct. 31.—Fire did damage to the extent of $40,000 this morning at No. 39 to 43 Pearl street, occupied by Alexander and Cable Lithographing company, limited, the Athol Press, H. S. Cooper company, embroidery manufacturer, and J. R. Irving, book-binder. The loss is well insured.

There was a general reluctance to increasing the revenue of those departments by the means of raising rates on the part of the city council.

In my opinion Commissioner Chalmers was mainly responsible for the adoption of a policy which has since been adopted by Winnipeg on the order of the public utilities commissioner of Manitoba, commencing with the month of November, 1912.

If Commissioner Chalmers is to be held responsible for the alleged errors to which the extent of $40,000 should in turn be given credit for much more important things to which his support has been given, and which considerably outweigh the more or less trivial matters with which he is charged, I do not regard the $5,000,000 as a trivial matter, but let its authenticity first be proven by those who make or commence the statement. Yours faithfully, C. L. RICHARDSON, Edmonton, Oct. 31, 1913.
